I make this gift as I have the happy memory of being the original founder of this mutual aid endeavour established originally for unemployed men and their families which in its early stages had the inestimable inspiration of personal interest from that great and lovely Lady Her late Majesty Queen Mary and the energetic support of His Royal Highness the Duke of Windsor then Prince of Wales

I suggest (but without creating any trust or binding legal obligation) that part of the said legacy be used to erect a little tablet in thankful commemoration in St. Mark's Church Kennington where practical sympathy first came to us for this work. trust or legal obligation

- (i) that they will remember for me appropriately any special person that I may have accidentally failed to remember and
- (ii) that if any of the articles specifically bequeathed by my said Will which disposes of my estate and property situate in Egypt (or by any Will or Codicil replacing it) shall not at the date of my death form part of my estate in Egypt they will use their best endeavours to see that the said or similar articles are delivered to the legatees concerned nonetheless

9. I HAVE after considerable thought re-adjusted this my Will and my Egyptian Will in accordance with their present forms. My relatives and friends in England are for the most part well provided for and I am without direct descendants. I have therefore thought fit to include a number of bequests to under-privileged individuals personally known to me in Egypt where I have lived so long after invaliding through service causes from the Royal Air Force. In Egypt after long service in the Middle East during which there have been periods when I have been fated, not without reluctance, to be involved in the official diplomatic and political scene, of latter times it has been sad to watch the continued clash of political interests. In spite of the importance of the wider aspect of the welfare of humanity, now by modern science so closely linked throughout the world, political relationships, here as elsewhere, seem guided too much by narrow interests of expediency and policy and too little by the far-sightedness of what is right and wrong for ultimate human happiness; while the precocious yet basically under-developed peoples of the Middle East, prematurely - and sometimes under the naive pressure of well-meaning but ill-informed American "ideology" - launched into "independence" by us, are led astray under a synthetic veneer of culture by the malicious urge of their inevitable inferiority complex. The simple and unpretentious are left without consideration by either side. It is to them that my sympathy turns, and to them that my gratitude humbly is offered for their example of often amazing kindness courage and humanity which alone arouse hope for the ultimate salvation of human civilization amidst the grim and suicidal materialism of misused "culture" and "progress" in the world here and around us
